

LINDSEY MCCORD

Inspired by her background in fashion, Georgia-born artist Lindsey McCord's artworks capture the joy and confidence that come with expressing oneself through fashion.

Growing up on a farm, McCord developed a deep appreciation for the beauty found in the natural world. In 2010, she moved to New York to pursue her passion for fashion design, enrolling in a prestigious program to hone her skills.

After earning her degree in fashion design, McCord ventured into the world of event planning and design, where she honed her creativity by taking on a wide range of "crafty" engineering projects and creative installations for major international companies. Her innovative approach to design soon garnered attention, and she quickly became known for her ability to transform even the most mundane spaces into vibrant, engaging environments.

Despite her success in the event space, McCord eventually found herself drawn back to her roots in fashion illustration. Moving to Atlanta, Georgia, she began to explore her passion for art once again, creating stunning works that showcase her unique sense of style and love of color.

In her art, McCord captures the joy and celebration of fashion, using bold colors and patterns to express the energy and excitement of this dynamic industry. Through her work, McCord invites viewers to embrace their own unique sense of style. McCord's creativity in her art shines through in every piece she creates.

Since first exhibiting her works in 2020, McCord continues to steadily amass a following and is collected by a growing number of international art aficionados. Her artworks have been showcased in acclaimed TV series such as Amazon Prime's series "Swarm".

