

SERGEI INKATOV

Sergei Inkatov was born in Baku, Azerbaijan in 1971. In 1987, he entered an art school and devoted his time to studying painting. He later moved to Tver, Russia where he continued his artistic studies before finally settling in Estonia (EU). He is an active member of the Estonian Artists Union as well as a member of Mondial Art Academia (France) and an Ambassador from the Academia in Estonia.

Inkatov's expressionistic oil paintings are vivid and richly textured. They radiate a life of balance and positive energy. His original abstract artworks have been exhibited internationally.

Inkatov says about his art "The world around beauty, cities, architecture, everything that was human-created for centuries inspire me as a painter. I like city pulse, its dynamic. There's a place for the urbanistic composition and philosophical meditations in my creative work.

My favorite means of self-expression became painting oil on the canvas. This skill gives me artistic freedom and at the same time offers new opportunities. Painting is one of the best human inventions because it allows to present the entire world in a painting."

Inkatov's artworks are held in the Narva Museum in Narva, Estonia, the Russian Art Fund's Cultural Property collection, and Galeria Comas in Barcelona, Spain. In 2011, Sergei Inkatov was highlighted as one of Tallinn's outstanding artists as part of the city's winning bid for the EU's annual European Capital of Culture title.
